

SchroederRyan.com

An interactive portfolio showcasing the experience, resume and blog posts for Ryan Schroeder

Ben Frank - the employer. Ben is a recruiter at a small startup looking to hire new employees.

Karen Smith - the browser. Karen is in the UX field and spends a lot of her free time reading UX blogs

David Jacks - the relative. David is a relative that will read everything his grandson posts no matter what.

Employers within the field of User Experience and front-end web development are increasingly asking for interactive portfolio websites showcasing the potential employees work. SchroederRyan.com will serve as Ryan Schroeder's portfolio that can be used to house projects, contact information, a resume and blog posts relevant to the field of User Experience. Not only will this website display relevant work, it will also be displayed in an intuitive, easy to use way.

Comps

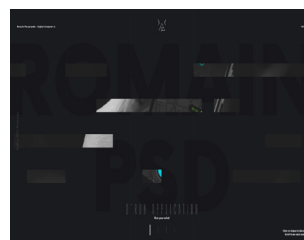

Erica Firment

- Full Viewport entry
- Parallax scrolling to separate sections

Simon Pan

- Project Descriptions
- Simplicity

Romainpsd.com

- Interactivity
- Animation